Six To Take Part

Knox and Lincoln Will Have That Number In Farm and Home Week Activities

Six persons from Knox and Lincoln Counties are scheduled to take part in the program for the 42d annual Farm and Home Week at the University of Maine, Monday to Thursday, March 28 to 31.

Mrs. Albert R. Benedict of Medford, will speak on flowers and color in the home and comment on display arrangements for flowers on the special program of the Garden Club Federation of Maine on Wednesday.

Frederic H. Bird, Rockland, secretary, Maine Blueberry Advisory Committee, will preside at the program for blueberry growers on Thursday. Edward B. Denny, Jr., president, Maine Milk Dealers Association will preside at the afternoon session of the Milk Dealers' program on Tuesday.

Mrs. Dorothy Lawry, president, Maine League of Women Voters, Rockland, will preside at the League meeting on Thursday. Mrs. Nell Martin of Damariscotta will take part in a panel discussion on operating a tourist home, Thursday, and Rev. B. F. Wentworth of Camden will preside at the all-day Rural Church program on Tuesday.

More than 200 are listed to take part in the Farm and Home Week program, nearly all authorities in their respective fields, and 20 State wide organizations interested in agriculture and rural life are co-operating to make the exercises of the week a success.

Among the highlights of Farm and Home Week will be the address of James C. O'Brien, director, Man Power Division, National Resources Board, Washington, D. C., on Monday night; the special program Tuesday night when the University of Maine will confer special honors on Maine's outstanding Farmers and Homemakers and when Dr. George Dykhuizen, of Burlington, Vt., will be the speaker; Grange Night Wednesday, when Senator Owen Brewster will speak and the traditional Farm and Home Week banquet Thursday night when Gov. Frederick G. Payne, President Arthur A. Hauck of the University of Maine, and Harold C. Kessinger of Ulica, N. Y., will be the speakers. Marjorie Mills speaks on the Home Economics program Wednesday forenoon.

DIED FROM HEART ATTACK

Ellis Young, Thomaston Baker, Succumbs In Truck At West End

Ellis Copeland Young 47, Thomaston bakery salesman, was found dead at his truck from a heart attack near the home of Fred Ferland in the West End of Thomaston Monday afternoon by Mr. Ferland as he came home from work. Dr. Charles D. North, Knox County Medical Examiner, gave a verdict of death due to coronary thrombosis and stated that Young had been dead about one hour when found.

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Baptist Church, Rev. H. W. Flagg officiating. Bearers will be from Williams-Brazier Post, American Legion, and one brother Charles of Thomaston. Mr. Young had long been active in community affairs, presently serving as Chaplain of the Williams-Brazier Post, American Legion, and as Captain of the Host of Henry Knox Chapter and member of Orient Lodge. He had operated a bakery retail route in Thomaston and a section of Warren for some years. He served during World War 2 as a Chief Machinists Mate in the Navy.

Town Manager form of government was adopted yesterday in Waldoboro by the close margin of 77 to 259, to become effective in 1950. Wilmoit Dow served as moderator. First on the list elected were Glen Dremmer and Alton G. Winchenbach as selectmen and overseers of the poor. William H. Brooks, Jr., will again be clerk; LaForest I. Mark, Thomas C. Briggs and Stanley G. Waltz, assessors; Walter E. Kaler, Jr., treasurer and tax collector.

Tightening On Taxis

New Ordinances Given First Hearing By City Council Last Night

The City Council moved last night to a tighter restriction on the operation of taxicabs in the city. First in the new ordinance, which was given first hearing, was the necessity of establishing a public need for new cabs before a license could be issued. The issuance of the certificate of necessity rests with the municipal officers. Investigation of the applicants or tax licenses rests with the City Manager and requires checking of the financial responsibilities of the applicant, need for the added service and the effect the added cabs will have on parking and traffic conditions in the city.

No taxi license may be transferred under the new ordinance which provides that once a service is discontinued the license is automatically revoked. The Chief of Police must inspect each cab up for license and each cab company operator must file a correct list of cabs and drivers with the Chief on the first day of each month.

Drivers' licenses have been upped to $5 for the first year and $2.50 each year thereafter. The Chief of Police is given the right to inspect any cab at any time and order off the road any cab believed to be unsafe or unsuitable for taxi service.

If They Are Chasing Deer After Being Warned, Says Chief Warden Lester Brown

"If we're going to preserve our deer herd, we'll have to do something about dogs running them," Chief Warden Lester E. Brown says. "With heavy pressure on our deer during the past two hunting seasons (record kills both years) the herd has taken a severe enough licking, without the added inroads of unchecked dog packs," he stated. Brown said that this is the worst time of year for deer because dogs can run on the crust while the deer cut through and are soon overhauled and torn to pieces. While the herd suffers most from dogs in Hancock, Northern Somerset and northern York Counties, conditions are bad, Statewide, he

HELD ON MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE

Extended Hearing Yesterday In Case Of the Haskins Boy Killed Near Owl's Head Line

Charles E. Stone Jr., 19, of Ash Point was bound over to Grand Jury of the May term of Superior Court by Municipal Court Judge Zelma M. Dwinall Monday. He was released in $1,000 bail on manslaughter charges arising from the death of Barry Haskins, 14, near the Owl's Head—Rockland line last Wednesday night. A second charge of drunken driving arising from the investigation of the first charge, was also continued in $200 bail for the Grand Jury.

The hearing in the Municipal Court rooms yesterday lasted nearly two hours with the small room filled to capacity. County Attorney Frank F. Harding appeared for the State and attorney Alan Grossman for Stone.

The drunken driving case was heard first by the court. Troopers Foley and Upton testified that Stone was under the influence at the time they first saw him in the driveway of his Ash Point home about 12.30 a. m. Thursday.

Captain Edward Marks testified that Stone was intoxicated when brought to the Thomaston Barracks at 1 a. m. Patrolman Podkova of the Rockland police testified that he noticed no evidence of intoxication about Stone when he briefly interviewed him in the hospital reception room after Stone had brought the Haskins boy's body to the hospital, and prior to the time Stone was interviewed by the State Troopers.

Trooper Foley stated that Stone told him that he had not taken a drink between the time of picking up the Haskins boy and the time he met Foley and that the liquor he had taken was consumed prior to arrival in Rockland enroute from New Bedford to Ash Point.

The State produced a chemist's report of a blood sample taken from Stone which showed an alcoholic content of .0149. Foley testified that the blood test was taken about 1.30 a. m., approximately three hours after the accident at Ingraham Hill which killed Haskins.

Grossman asked a verdict of "not guilty" from the court, citing the evidence of Podkova who observed Stone shortly after the accident at the hospital.

Judge Dwinall stated that while the evidence conflicted in some respects there was still the evidence of the State Troopers that Stone had told them he had not had a drink since the accident. The blood test, he observed, was in Stone's favor but pointed out that it was taken three hours after the accident.

The manslaughter case against Stone, charging him with the death of Barry Haskins, was tried last. Grossman moved for a directed verdict of "not guilty." He claimed the State failed to prove death and thereby had not proved its case. Dwinall held that there was sufficient evidence to establish a prima facie case and warrant finding probable cause.

Grossman said: "If you feel that he has proved that the boy was killed, there is no use in my saying anything further." He warned the court that it must take notice only of evidence presented and not accounts in the newspapers, and again said that the County Attorney had not proven his case.

Bail was fixed at $1,000 by Judge Dwinall and was provided by Stone in the form of real estate security by friends.

During the hearing, Sullivan Reed, companion of Barry Haskins at the time of his death, stated that he, Barry and Vernon Haskins were walking just beyond the town line, on the right side of the road, when they heard a car approaching. The tires were whining, he said. He stepped off the road and in doing so forced Vernon to also step off, he said. He heard a noise, he said, and saw something going through the air, accompanied by the tinkle of metal.

He was not sure for an instant what had been thrown into the air by the car, he said, but an instant later realized that it was Barry who had been struck. The tinkle of metal continued he said, sounding as if it were bouncing over the ground. The car went to the top of the hill and out of sight, he stated, not stopping.

The evidence of Vernon Haskins, brother and companion of the dead boy, was essentially the same as that of Reed. Vernon did say that he thought the death vehicle was a pickup truck at first and so informed the police at the hospital.

Reed stated that he knew the vehicle which struck Barry was a sedan, light in color, from the first and that he never informed anyone that it was otherwise.

Reed stated that the car which stopped to pick up Barry had the right front light out but did not meet the driver as at that time he went with his mother, Mrs. Nellie Reed of Owl's Head, to notify the Haskins family of the tragedy.

Trooper Ray Foley stated that he investigated the accident with Trooper Upton, both going to the scene where they were given parts of a grill from a car and finding additional pieces and glass from a headlight lens in a further search. He described a house to house search in the area and worked their way into Ash Point, searching for a pickup truck, but checking all vehicles.

As they checked a vehicle in a driveway, Foley said that he was approached by a man from a driveway to his left who asked if he was looking for his brother, who had taken Haskins to the hospital.

Charles the Stone car, Foley said that he found the right front grill damaged and the right headlight lens missing and the right front fender dented.

Later, when Stone came on the scene from the house, Foley said he asked him what had happened to the grill and light and he got the reply that he didn't know. Foley testified that there was a strong odor of liquor on Stone's breath and that he staggered, this at about an hour after the time of the accident.

Captain Marks testified that Stone told him at the barracks that he heard screams after he passed the boys, became panicky, and turned at the top of the hill and went back and took the Haskins boy to the hospital.

THE BLACK CAT

By The Roving Reporter

Homeward bound from Daytona Beach, Fla., Rodney E. Feyler writes that he had the pleasure of meeting Napoleon Lajoie, the famous Cleveland ball player of other days. Lajoie is retired and makes his home at Daytona Beach. "He's a swell guy," says Rodney.

A Japonica bloom in a Claremont street home although the owner's shrub is not scheduled to blossom for quite a number of weeks yet. A bud bearing sprig was plucked from the bush a fortnight or so ago, placed in water and now bears sure enough blossoms.

I am fond of observing things which are a bit out of the ordinary and transferring them to The Black Cat column. I notice, for instance, at Strand Theatre, if early arrivals seat themselves in the center aisle, the majority of those who come later will follow their example, and the same is true of the right and left aisles—not always, to be sure, but quite generally. See for yourselves.

At 8 p. m., on Friday nights, after listening to Alton Blackington (or "Blackie," as he likes to call himself) I unfailingly tune in on the half-hour concert given by Paul Leval's Cities Service Band. Last Friday night the vocalists in the band did advance honor to St. Patrick's Day, by singing those special Irish ballads. Seems like I could listen to them forever.

The "small world" has bobbed up again, this time down at Boynton Beach, Fla., where Kelley B. Crie attended a Rotary meeting the other day. "Are you from Rockland, Maine," the program chairman asked him. Answered in the affirmative the chairman said: "My brother was pastor of the Congregational Church there." The program chairman was "Chief" Olds, brother of Rev. Corwin H. Olds.

Limiting Licenses

Stover Of Liquor Commission Says It Would Protect Public and Industry

Maine's Liquor Commission chairman Thursday urged limitation of the number of liquor outlets to protect both the public and the industry. Chairman E. A. Stover told the legislative temperance committee that the commission would eliminate marginal establishments with undesirable characteristics.

Malt beverage industry spokesmen opposed three limitation measures. Burelign Martin of Augusta, representing the wholesale dealers, said such restriction "would be against the voice of the voters who approved liquor sales in local option."

The three bills were filed by Senator Hopkins of Waterville.

"There are some areas," said Hopkins, "where there are so many outlets the situation is intolerable." His bills proposed limitation on the basis of:

1. Population.
2. Discretion of the liquor commission.
3. Restriction by local ordinance.

None of the bills would affect current licenses, which could be transferred with sale of property. A minimum of two of any type of Summer licenses would not be restricted.

License approved by local option vote could be issued in any community.

Editor, FRANK A. WINSLOW

HAD ITS BEST YEARS

From Whitinsville, Mass., comes word that the Machine Works has just had the largest net income in its history, $5,905,179 to be exact. With so many Knox County workers employed there this is perhaps not to be wondered at.

SENATE HOLDS UP QUODDY

In spite of urgent appeals by Maine's two Senators that branch of the National government failed to go along with the House in including $30,000 for a survey of the Quoddy project. Undismayed, Congressmen Fellows of the Third District is now bending his efforts to have the measure included in the second deficiency appropriation. Try never was beaten.

A COSTLY FORTNIGHT

The two weeks' stoppage in the coal mines, ordered by John L. Lewis throws out of employment 57,425 railroad workers and 425,000 United Mine Workers, and the loss to the mine workers alone, will be about $68,000,000 for the fortnight. The shutdown is ordered by Lewis as a memorial to dead and injured mine workers. As such it may have a commendable feature, but it is certainly not a memorial to the living.

"BENCHED?" NO SIR!

You cannot convince the Young Republicans that the party is permanently "benched." They have issued a call for their 1949 convention which will be held in Salt Lake City June 23-25. The idea that a great political party which cast more than 26,000,000 votes last November can be thrown into the discard is to our way of thinking so much folderol.

WALLACE WAS UNWELCOME

Some persons are tired of hearing Henry Wallace, or even hearing about him. And that's what was learned by the Connecticut minister who surrendered his place on a radio program in favor of the late presidential candidate. The radio station which had not been aware of the substitution received at least 100 telephone calls from protesting listeners, some of whom were Roman Catholic priests.

SICKNESS—AND THE RED CROSS

One person in every ten is sick sometime during the year. The doctor is called, and he leaves a prescription and orders for you to follow in taking care of the patient. A busy mother with other home duties to perform very often must also assume the duties of the home nurse. If she has some knowledge of sickroom techniques her job is made much easier. If there is a visiting nurse in the town she will come in and give care to the patient; but her visit will last only about one hour, and there are the 23 other hours to get through. There is sick patient's diet to fix, the bed to keep clean, the medicines to be given, and then the patient's morale to think about. We know that a happy patient gets better more quickly than an unhappy one.

The home nursing course teaches by instruction, demonstration, and practice, practice, practice. Why not form a class in your neighborhood and call the Knox County Chapter for an instructor to teach the class. It's fun, it's fast, and it's free. Ten people make up the class which will be taught by a registered Red Cross nurse who has had special training. I am sure you will enjoy the class and shall be able to take care of the sick in your home. The classes are beginning April 18 at Bok Nurses Home, or if you have 10 people in your neighborhood you may have the class right there.

SEVEN DOCTORS ATTENDING

The condition of King George of England is causing considerable concern despite the Associated Press report that he is making normal progress. His majesty underwent a nerve operation to improve the blood circulation in his right leg. The fact that seven surgeons are in attendance offers the belief that the case may be even more serious than the public is being led to believe.

"JESSE JAMES" AGAIN

The appeal of a colorful rogue has always been great in balladry, dime novels and Hollywood, and few forms of larceny have been more susceptible to imaginative treatment than train robberies—old style. Combining the iron horse with the flesh-and-blood kind, they were natural for the cinema from its very earliest days, and were the means of transforming some very scoundrelly characters into folk heroes that might seem at home in Sherwood Forest. Perhaps the revival of this form of banditry may have the effect of rubbing some of the gloss off Jesse James and his followers; at least one suspects that the passengers on the Baltimore & Ohio's Ambassador who were plundered on Wednesday night will have a new fondness for "the dirty little coward who shot Mr. Howard."

In the chilly light of the present, there is no glamour about two "jitterbug-type" thugs who had the train stopped by the unromantic method of pulling the emergency cord, who hit men and women with their gun butts, appeared to be under the influence of narcotics, made a sally into a night club and wound up the proceedings by a vain gun battle in a Washington pawnshop. The police report that the men taken in Washington—one believed fatally wounded—have confessed; their career as latter-day rivals of Jesse James lasted less than 24 hours, while it was nine years between the time their prototype robbed his first train and his death at the hands of Robert Ford in 1882. The swift capture of the suspects was good police work; more, it may nip a legend in the bud.

Theft by violence should provide the materials for case histories and studies of the operations of modern society, but it is just as well when the relationship between the more spectacular criminal and the hoodlum who beats up his victim down a dark alley is made plain. A sordid act does not become admirable simply because it involves a train—or, for that matter, the galloping horses of the James Boys.—Herald Tribune.

A Notable Meeting

Past Presidents' Night At the Relief Corps—State President Here

Past Presidents of Edwin Libby Relief Corps filled the chairs Thursday night, with Mrs. Velma Marsh presiding in a pleasing and efficient manner.

Mrs. Gladys Hurley, State President of W.S.R.C. of Portland, was introduced by Mrs. Eliza Plummer, who acted as conductor during the meeting. Others who assisted were Mrs. Lena Rollins, vice president; Mrs. Mae Cross, secretary; Mrs. Rea Knight, treasurer; Mrs. Thomas Higgins, chaplain; Mrs. Bertha Higgins, guard; Mrs. Mildred Condon, past president; Mrs. Mabel Richardson, Fraternity; Mrs. Margaret Rackliff, Charity; Mrs. Ada Payson, Loyalty; Mrs. Adeline Mullen, Mrs. Doris Ames, Mrs. Bessie Haraden, Mrs. Winifred Butler, flagbearers; and Mrs. Elizabeth Vinal, patriotic instructor. Mrs. Norma Morey, musician, presided at the piano during the evening.

Mrs. Martha Sleeper, corps conductor, introduced the Past State Presidents in the order as served—Mrs. Hattie Davies 1916, Mrs. Mary B. Cooper 1922, Mrs. Millie Thomas 1933, Mrs. Elizabeth Vinal 1939. Mrs. Eliza Plummer 1947.

When the roll was called by Mrs. Mae Cross, secretary, there were 18 Past Corps Presidents who answered "present," with Mrs. Hattie Davies, who served in 1909, the eldest in service. Others followed in the order given: Mrs. Millie Thomas, '14; Mrs. Mae Cross, '16; Mrs. Maria Knight, '17; Mrs. Bertha Higgins, '19; Mrs. Mildred Condon, '21; Mrs. Mary B. Cooper, '22; Mrs. Winifred Butler, '26-'27; Mrs. Eliza H. Plummer, '28, '29, '30; Mrs. Bessie Haraden, '30; Mrs. Elizabeth B. Vinal, '31-'32; Mrs. Adeline Mullen, '33; Mrs. Doris Ames, '33; Mrs. Velma March, '36; Mrs. Lena Rollins, '37; Mrs. Margaret Rackliff, '41-'43; Mrs. Ada Payson, '44; Mrs. Mabel Richardson, '45-'46.

Mrs. Irene Winslow, who joined the Corps in 1935, and served as president in '34, was unable to be present; also Mrs. Ellie Knowlton, '20; Mrs. Clara Curtis, '25; Mrs. Inez Packard, '38, and Mrs. Blanche Shadie, '39, who is confined to her bed.

Flowers were presented by the daughters of our late Sister Libby and graced the table in the dining room after which they were sent to our shut-in past presidents.

Mrs. Ruth Sewall was accepted into membership and duly initiated. Mrs. Myrtle Makenin was winner in the "cake walk" and Mrs. Mabel Richardson winner of a silk bag donated by Mrs. Jennie Wilson of Dorchester, Mass.

A communication from Mrs. Thelma Hannon, vice president, was read, telling of her project, a beautiful Priscilla Rug, made in Turner, Me., a gift to the State Corps. A program was presented by the patriotic instructor, and included solos by Mrs. Jennie Pietroski, "The Lord's Prayer" and "Where River Shannon Flows." Mrs. Mildred Sprague gave an interesting reading, "At the ball game," and at the close of the meeting, left a beautiful thought of the day. Mrs. Adelaide Kaler sang vocal solos, and there was an original reading by Mrs. Hattie Davies, who caused a great deal of laughter as she continued to state her grievance against the presiding officer and explained the cause, a matter of years, and a great many of them.

Mrs. Rose Sawyer and Mrs. Myra Watts prepared the supper and arranged the dining room with special decorations presenting a pleasing effect. Baskets bearing the word "Dirigo" were placed at each plate, also colorful place cards, made by Mrs. Marsh.

The menu consisted of beans, numerous covered dishes, salads, pickles, cream pie, coffee, doughnuts and cake. Special cakes made by Mrs. Priscilla Smith and Mrs. Watts attracted much attention, both in appearance and in taste.

The best of table service was given by the waitresses.

Mrs. Marsh extended thanks to all who helped make this meeting a success, and an event that will always be a pleasant memory—and

IT WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

Supper Served By Booster Club At Which the Championship Trophy Was Awarded Jimmy Connellan

The food was swell, the speakers were very good, the movies were fine and the house was packed. That's what the people said who attended the High School gym last Wednesday night.

Young Jimmy Connellan, who played forward on the varsity basketball team this year was awarded the Booster Club Poul-shooting Champ Trophy—a gold cup about 15 inches high. The cup was presented by Coach Ken MacDougal on behalf of the Rockland Booster Club. The basketball coach then went on to explain how a champ is picked by shooting fouls to enter the State contest. Each player is required to shoot 25 fouls at practice sessions until he has reached 450 shots. Jimmy was high man with a total of 301 out of a possible 450.

President Al McFarland gave a brief outline of Booster Club activities, past and present, and a list of things planned to do in the future. All club events coincide with the High School's academic year from September through June. Clinton Robinson, co-chairman of the entertainment committee, presented the speakers of the evening—T. E. Curtis, faculty head and skiing coach at the University of Maine, and Sam Sezak, assistant faculty head and basketball coach also from the U. of M. Sam was formerly coach of Rockland High as well.

Both men spoke on sports and their place in the education of the growing youth. They also praised the Booster Club and its many doings, and expressed some fine examples of what can be done with an organization of this kind. The speakers pointed out their hopes of many other communities following the fine pattern being set by this Rockland Club.

Among other guests and speakers were Junior varsity coach Larry Plummer and Principal Robert Clunie. The latter expressed the appreciation of the High School for the great support already received by the Booster Club.

The High School Band has received the new bass drum purchased through funds made possible by the Booster Club. The Band plans to give its first 1949 concert in May—date to be announced.

Movies shown after the supper were furnished by the attending speakers. The first film was on the Bowdoin and Maine football game of last year. Coach Curtis spoke of his 25-years' coaching career and championship Maine teams while showing a film on Maine's skiing team at McGill University in Canada and Dartmouth University at Hanover. This particular team was one of the highest ranking teams in the nation for all colleges.

The supper which was enjoyed by all consisted of beans, salads and pickles, macaroni and cheese spaghetti and meat balls, scalloped potatoes, hot rolls, coffee and cake. The supper was served by many pretty waitresses, representing Rockland High School.

The Booster Club takes this opportunity to thank the following who made this supper the success that it was. The business men, the members of the club who donated so generously, the girls who served, the boys in the kitchen who had the tremendous job of doing all the dishes. Many thanks go out to all those who attended the supper and the guest speakers. In the future we hope that these supporters and rallies will be even more of a success than this one which approximately 170 people attended.

Be a Booster. Publicity Committee—Don Estes and Bob Jones.

UNION MADE BRAVE SHOWING

Met With Third Period Defeat In Playoff For Bulwer Championship

Litchfield Academy pulled away in the third period and eventually defeated Union High School 39-29, in a playoff for the Bulwer Basketball League championship at Cony High School Thursday night.

Tied at the half, 17-17, the game saw Litchfield, paced by George Heussler and Billy Tarr, take an eight point lead at the three-quarters mark and stave off a late Union bid. Litchfield fired 13 of 16 foul shots for key points in its win that dethroned Union in the loop. Union won the first Bulwer League title last season.

Tarr netted 8 of his 13 floor shots and five of six from the foul line to pace the winners. Heussler's 13 points and Earl Harvey's five points completed the winners' scoring. Bob Day and Ralph Knight each totaled ten for the losers.

There was never more than four points between the two teams for a half as Union, leading 10 to 9 at the period, saw Litchfield knot the score at the half. Union's biggest lead of the game, 8-4, came in the first period.

Union missed 10 shots from the floor as Litchfield spurred in the third period netting four of 14 floor shots and shooting 4 straight foul tosses. Litchfield led 25 to 18 at 4:40 and was in front 29-21, at the end of the period.

Litchfield lengthened its edge to 13 points early in the fourth period. Union whittled that margin to six points before two quick baskets with less than a minute left to play clinched the verdict for Litchfield.

Litchfield's deliberate style of play shoved Union off stride early in the game. Union couldn't connect consistently from the floor and had its ragged passing to contend with most of the way through the encounter.

Litchfield attempted 49 shots for its 13 goals, Union 47 for its ten.

Portland 39, Rockland 37

In one of the finest games played by either team all season the U.S.S. Kawan defeated the U.S.S. Red Jacket in final seconds of play 39-37. It was Rockland's first loss of the season and the seventh win for Portland. Both teams played a hard brand of basketball with the lead going back and forth throughout the game. The score was 37 all with ten seconds to play, when Portland threw in the winning basket.

The Red Jacket squadmen were overnight guests and were given three meals and a dance in honor of both basketball teams.

The Bath Tournament
The third annual Western Maine Grammar School Basketball Tournament, sponsored by the Bath Y.M.C.A., has its beginning Friday night, when Rockland Junior High plays the Huse School of Bath and the Jack Juniors of Portland play the John A. Cune School of Topsham. The winners play Friday night March 25. Other teams in the tournament are Brunswick Junior High playing the Forest Street School of Westbrook and Bath Central plays Boothbay Harbor Grammar. The championship game will be played Saturday March 26 at 8:30 p. m.

Vandals are at work in Glen Cove, this time occupied in burning holes in plastic window screens in at least two homes. Last week, Shirley Barbour discovered that eight screens had been damaged by someone who had burned holes with either a cigarette or cigar in the newly installed combination storm and screen sash. Later in the week, two screens of the same type were damaged on the home of Raymond Hoch, a short distance away.

Fire around a chimney in the home of George Everett at Ingraham Hill caused an estimated $100 damage Sunday afternoon. The blaze was confined to the dining room of the house by Rockland firemen using the tanker unit built last year for just such use beyond the water main.

William and Carlotta Kittredge of Bath were treated at Knox Hospital Saturday for injuries received in an accident on Route US 1 in Thomaston. They were reported to have been passing a truck when their car skidded and collided with another approaching them, operated by Nicholas Carrigan of Thomaston. Damage was estimated at $200 on the Kittredge car and $350 on Carrigan's.

Knox County Camera Club meets tonight at Farnsworth Museum. Members will bring salon prints ready for hanging in the annual exhibit to be held in the museum starting next week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Wesley Thurston have received word that their son, Sgt. Carlton Thurston of the Military Police Company, stationed at Parris Island, South Carolina, is in the Marine Hospital at the Island recovering from severe cuts about the head and a dislocated shoulder sustained in an automobile accident of March 7. Although recuperating nicely, the accident delays Sgt. Thurston's arrival home which was expected this month on completion of his four years of service in the Marine Corps.

Scout Commissioner Horatio C. Cowan asks that all persons who have had members of their family in the Boy Scouts in past years make a search for uniforms, or parts of uniforms, which have again been used. He points out that there is a need for various uniform items to complete the fitting out of boys now in the several troops in the city. Donated uniforms will help outfit boys who have been unable to obtain the items of clothing through their own efforts. Donors may call Scout Commissioner Cowan or leave the bundles of uniforms at the Pro-Joy plant at Rankin Block.

ASSESSOR'S NOTICE
CITY OF ROCKLAND
The Subscribing Assessor of Taxes, of the City of Rockland, hereby gives notice to the Inhabitants of said City and other persons having Taxable Property within said City, to make and bring in to said Assessor true and perfect lists of their polls and all their estates, real and personal, including all property held in trust as Guardian, Executor, Administrator, Trustee, or as is excepted as to law exempt (from taxation) which they were possessor of on the first day of April, 1949, and be prepared to make Oath to the truth of the same.

And for the purpose of receiving said lists and making transfers of all property bought or sold, the undersigned will be in session at the Assessor's Room, No. 7, City Building, from nine to twelve o'clock in the forenoon, and from two to five o'clock in the afternoon of each day.
FRIDAY, MONDAY, TUESDAY
APRIL 1, 4, 5, 6, 1949
Special Notice to Executors, Administrators, Trustees or Guardians:
The statute provides that you must bring in to the Assessor a true and perfect list of all taxable property in your possession as of April 1, 1949, otherwise it will be taxed as the statute provides, and any personal examination of property by the Assessor will not be considered as a waiver of neglect of any person in bringing in a true and perfect list as required by law. Any person who neglects to comply with this notice will be deemed to a tax according to the laws of the State and be barred of the right to application either to the Assessor, Board of Assessment Review, or County Commissioners for any Abatement of Taxes, unless such person offers such list with his application and satisfies the Assessor that he was unable to offer it at the time appointed.

Mrs. Smith Presides

Senator Margaret Chase Smith presided over the Senate last night for her first time.

The gavel was turned over to her about 7 p. m., by Senator Miller of Idaho, himself a freshman Senator.

At the time, Senator Ellender of Louisiana had been talking for about seven hours as a part of the Southern filibuster against changing the rules of the Senate on unlimited debate.

Only last week Senator Smith acted as minority leader for the first time.

Warren M. George son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth George, 331 Pleasant street, has arrived at Enid, Oklahoma, Air Force Base for aviation cadet training in advanced multi-engine aircraft. After successfully completing the four-month course in advanced flight training, cadets will be commissioned second lieutenants in the Air Force Reserve and awarded pilot wings.

Cadet George enlisted in the Air Force in 1946 after graduation from Rockland High School, and before being accepted for aviation cadet training, attended Radar Mechanic School at Boca Raton Air Force Base, Fla.

Dr. Blake Annis, Thomas Anastasio, Roy Danielson, Ray Ludwig, E. Murphy, Earl Titus and Sterling Morse of Rockland Lodge of Elks, spent Sunday at Dr. Annis' cottage. Dinner was served by Brother Tom Anastasio, the venison steak being furnished by Dr. Annis.

Inmates of the Tugus Veterans Facility are in for a good time Friday night when two acts of singing, dancing and comedy will be presented under the direction of Mrs. Elizabeth Passon. The entertainment, which will be titled "Caravan of Smiles" will conclude with a number by Greta Nelson and a play by Greta Nelson.

The Baptist Men's League will observe Blue Night Thursday night and will have a program of moving pictures from the Department of Inland Fish and Game for this meeting. These are fine pictures and should be well attended.

There will be a Parish supper at St. Peter's Undercroft, Thursday night, at 6:30. Father Gary of the University of Maine, will speak. Those not solicited take a covered dish.

Gene Currier, well known mariner and worker on the Rockland kilns in older days, is celebrating his birthday, March 22, at 160 Pleasant street. He is invalided and cards will be appreciated.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce will show three movie pictures relating to the fishing industry at the Rockland High School Auditorium at 7:30 Wednesday night. No admission will be charged and the Jaycees cordially invite all to attend. The pictures will cover sardine packing from the construction of the weir through to delivery of the packed product; the filleting and packaging of fish and basic net mending. All have been prepared by the Fish & Wildlife Service of the Federal Government with the assistance of the Maine Development Commission. The showing locally of the sardine packing film will be the first since its release to the public.

Germany is to have a special type of banking institution for the film industry.

News items from all of the Patrons of Husbandry are welcomed

Mt. Pleasant Grange held its regular meeting March 7 at the engine hall. South Hope Grange was invited and a beano party followed the meeting. The literary program included a solo by Geraldine Straub, at solos by Gladys Keller and Philip Carroll, stories by Brother Charles—Merrifield and Worthy Master Perry Merrifield of South Hope and a joke by Robert Bettemore. There were several songs led by the Grange and an invitation was extended Mt. Pleasant Grange to a beano party at Penobscot View Grange Thursday night, March 10. There were nine present from South Hope Grange, one from Penobscot View Grange and 24 from Mt. Pleasant.

Mt. Pleasant Grange is to hold a small fair Friday night, April 29, at the Engine Hall, West Rockport. There will be a cooked food table, fancy work table, homemade fudge, soda pop and a refreshment table. The Grange will present a play entitled "Mr. Bob." There will be a solo by Miss Geraldine Straub and a piano solo by Philip Carroll. There will also be other entertainers as the program is not complete as yet. All who wish to contribute to the fancy table, home cooked food or fudge table may get in touch with the following people: Mrs. Evelyn Merrifield for fancy work and Mrs. Frances Tolman for home cooked food and fudge tables. The proceeds from the fair are to go toward purchasing a record player for the Grange. All will be welcomed.

Past Master Ralph Esaney and the Harvest Marchers of South China Grange are invited to Silver Lake Grange to serve as Overseer and Marchers for the third and fourth degrees Tuesday night. This Grange is planning on visiting Seven Tree Grange of Union for their Union meeting March 26. Three officers are invited to help work the third and fourth degrees.

Four graduates from White Oak Juvenile Grange, North Warren, were welcomed by Bowdoin Miller, the master of White Oak subordinate Grange, Friday night, following graduation exercises. They were Ronald Barbour, Carolyn Payson, Norman Alholm, and Arnold Wiley.

Officers of the Juvenile Grange, who had part in the ceremonies were Rosslyn Castner, master; Edwin Benner, overseer; Flora Wiley, secretary; Lorraine Perry, lecturer; Violet Mitchell, treasurer; June Stimpson, lady assistant steward; Judith Wood, chaplain and Kinsey Moody, matron. Janice Kinsey was marshal. Carolyn Payson, the girl graduate, received a corsage of carnations, and the boys, who graduated, a single carnation.

At The High School

The menus served in the lunch-room by Mrs. Dormann last week were:

Monday—Corn chowder, pickle, bread and butter, milk, gingerbread and whipped cream.

Thursday morning two very informative moving pictures were shown to senior high students. Both films were concerned with the fishing industry which is an important business in Rockland. The first showed the workings of the sardine business from the catching of the fish to the wrapping of the can. The other dealt with larger fish and showed the equipment used for the catch, the filleting and freezing, and finally how they are sold from freezing compartments in stores. The movies were shown with the compliments of Kermit St. Peter of the Holmes Packing Company.

The student office messengers this week were: Alta Harmon, Christine Mank, Jean Iott, Carl Gray, Kermit St. Peter, Carol Kent, Clifton Ross, Faith Melvin. The teachers on noon duty were: Mrs. Smith, Miss Thompson, Mr. Whiting.

Several seniors are taking examinations these days for schools and colleges where they will further their training in special fields. Among these are: Richard Pease, Charles Foote, and Richard McIntosh, who are taking the scholarship examination for the University of Maine; Ronald Shaffer and James Connellan, who are taking the College entrance examination for Bowdoin; Carolyn Chisholm, the aptitude test for nursing at the University of Maine; Evelyn Perry, the aptitude test for Colby.

The following are preparing to take the entrance examinations for training schools in the various places: Lois Tootill, Mass. General Hospital; Betty Crozier, Deaconess Hospital, Boston, Mass. Dorothy Curtis, Maine Eye and Ear Infirmary, Portland, and Beth Blid, 21-11

Town Meetings

...with the issue of the new High School and joining of a school union with Rockport and Hope being carried over to a special meeting in the future.

Total appropriations amounted to $196,658, not deviating from the figure recommended by the town budget committee and published in the town report.

Articles 13 through 42 were set aside during the major part of the afternoon while the voters discussed the school articles and decided on a special town meeting.

The winter sports appropriation came in for attention as a Mr. Bentley moved that all Camden school children be granted free membership in the organization operating the Snow Bowl. Adin Hopkins moved, after much discussion as to the admitting of students free to the area, and the merits of the area in general, that the $1000 appropriation be granted. The voters passed the appropriation.

Article 21 which asked for a road connecting Chestnut street and Brookside avenue brought a petition of 200 names for the project and attorney Dominic Cucinello of Rockland who spoke on behalf of the petitioners. The voters followed the recommendation of the budget committee and passed over the article.

Article 35, calling for a change in the town building code to require permits for building or alterations of buildings and the inspection of the same was passed over as recommended.

Fireworks are "out" in Camden as Article 36 proposed. The article forbids the setting off of any type of fireworks in the town as well as the sale of them within the community. Public displays under supervision were excepted.

A High School building committee was authorized with the Committee of 21 being given the authority to add five of its members to the committee. The original committee will be comprised of the selectmen, the school committee and the superintendent of schools.

Vinalhaven

Seventy-Seven Articles and Six Contests Spelled a Busy Day

Wary Vinalhaven voters, who had wrestled with 77 articles and half a dozen snappy election contests, were willing to call it a day yesterday when the doors closed on the annual town meeting.

Alton Hopkins was chosen moderator and found his hands full from the moment the gavel dropped until the last article was disposed of. A. E. Libby, seasoned town clerk, also found it a busy occasion.

Desire to serve on the board of selectmen led to three contests, two of which went into the second ballot. Harland A. Townsend was elected first selectman, defeating C. E. Miles by a vote of 219 to 45.

There were three candidates for second place on the board—Sidney L. Winslow, W. C. Bunker and Michael Williams. On the first ballot the vote stood: Winslow 54, Bunker 209, Williams 55. Williams withdrew and on the second ballot Bunker won 150 to 90.

Three candidates also appeared for third selectman—Evelyn Swanson, William Bruce and Edward Maddox. The vote stood: Swanson 61, Bruce 109, Maddox 55. Maddox withdrew and on the second ballot it stood: Bruce 109, Swanson 65. Arthur Brown was elected tax collector over two opponents, the vote standing: Brown 135, Mrs. Lida Ames 81, Colin Winslow 27. There was a contest for school

WARREN

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil E. Hills of Warren announce the engagement of their daughter, Joyce T. Hills of Norway, to Vivian W. Hutchins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert L. Hutchins, of 45 Pleasant street, Norway. Miss Hills, employed as dental hygienist by Dr. A. W. Easton in Norway, is a graduate of Warren High School, and of the University of Pennsylvania, School of Oral Hygiene. Mr. Hutchins is a graduate of Norway High School, the Maine Central Institute, and Bowman Technical School of Lancaster, Penna. He served three years with the Air Force, and is now associated with his father at the Hutchins Jewelry Store in Norway. No date has been set for the wedding.

The annual meeting of the money raised was for schools, increasing the budget by $7000 over that of last year to a total of about $50,000. Officers elected were: Selectmen, Forrest Wall, Everett Torrey and Henry Bryant; treasurer and tax collector, Joseph Simmons; clerk, George Maxwell; school board, Pearl Wall.

Only one contest figured in the town meeting. A tree quiz was held, and the post of road commissioner by Mrs. Marion Lemond sang, 150 votes to 104 for the present incumbent, Allison Morris.

A committee of four was appointed to work and study with the Selectmen to consider a town manager form of government, a report on this to be made at the next town meeting. It was voted to accept plans for the War Memorial.

H. L. Kenniston Wins Contest For Third Selectman

—Appropriations $52,880

Continuance of Warren Town Meeting, adjourned from last Monday evening to the sudden death of Third Selectman Curtis C. Starrett, found interest centered in the question of building a two-room addition to the Junior High School. Technically this article was passed over, but with the proviso that the existing investigating committee continue as a building committee and make a survey of the entire school system, submitting a report at a later special Town Meeting. However, the sum of $2000 was voted to the sinking fund, this making a total of over $9000 earmarked for this purpose.

It was also voted to authorize the above-mentioned committee to contact neighboring towns as to a regional High School survey. The general report on this entire school matter was presented by the chairman, Leroy McCluskey.

To fill the vacancy of Third Selectman, Herbert L. Kenniston was elected by a vote of 60 to 32 for Leland Peabody.

A hand vote was taken to indicate the voters' choice as to secret (Continued on Page Six)

HAD TROUBLES A-PLENTY

The Ganders Wage Losing Battle With Many Casualties—The Tomahawk Turns

It was a crippled team of Ganders that took the rostrum to try and hold at bay the bloodthirsty Skippers, and this down low team turned in a low down score as a result. With MacDonald nursing a bad eye, Bickford a sore hand, Link Sanborn a crick in his back and the Goose an empty stomach, Shields was about the only free swinging bowler left to uphold the honor of the dear old blue and gold.

However the Skippers were not so not either and for the first two strings it was a fairly even match, but in the last heat the Skipmen opened up a bit and hauled into the lead by 57 pins at the finish.

That empty stomach was a terrible handicap for the Goose, and he nearly got eliminated, but along toward the end of the match he had time to remedy the defect somewhat and was doing better.

The cokes, two ice creams and a candy bar better.

Guilford emerged as high man with his 297 while Bickford was at the other end, the bottom end, with 228. Poole, the anchor man for the Skippers must have fouled his anchor for he was down in the same class as the Goose, and it was a toss up between them as to whom the leather medal should go, for the worst performance.

Unburdened by pie and unbiased by the coaching of Captain Grimes, the Skipmen were out to get this match and nip in the bud any ideas that the Ganders might have of staging a rally and winning two straight games, and now that the deed is done feel that they can take the rest of the games very comfortably.

The orchard of the evening should go to Link Sanborn, who barely able to bend over was still in there pitching 'em down the alley and landed second on his own team. Some rascally Scalawag, undoubtedly a Gander, has been circulating 'he report that Frankie Adams has been calling Link up every Sunday and saying he knew just the place where they could dig a nice bucket of clams, knowing full well that Link could no more refuse to go clamming than he could to eat a second piece of pie. Then Link would get into the flats and about bowling time on Monday night would be so lame he could just walk around and the Skippers would win the bowling match. Cap'n Grimes put in his two cents worth by saying that it was not the digging of his own clams that laid Link up, but it was those he had to dig for Adams that put him out of business.

Wild and Woolly Bowling

It was wild and woolly bowling for all to behold when the Red Men and the Palefaces clashed at the Cascade Alleys last Wednesday night, for between hard luck, poor bowling and downright cussedness of the pins, some of the scores were so small you had to figure twice to find out if it was one string or three.

Big Chief Dyer had sent out some smoke signals for help and Walt Lyford had taken a run into the village to try and help his Tribesmen out of a tight spot, but Walt was a bit out of practice and did not begin to be very effective until it was time to quit. The Red Men held off the pale faced gentlemen for the first two strings but when Davis Jr., blasted out 110 in his last string, that was all out of reason, and the Indians just folded up their tents and teepees and stole into the night and the forests of Pequot.

"Any man that will bowl 110 in this league should be disbanded," said P. Barter speaking for the underdogs, to which reply was made by Old Hoss Davis to the effect that any Big Chief who couldn't bowl more than 233 ought not to be allowed off the reservation. And it could not be denied that Big Chief Dyer's defection was a prime cause of the Red Men's defeat.

Everybody complained how stubborn the pins were Wednesday night for it seemed as if they couldn't be knocked over with a broom, and many times it looked as if the bowlers were using the pick and peck system of bowling.

H. Conway was a new face among the Palefaces, subbing for Ed White but his 235 was not a very auspicious start, there being but one lower score, that of the Big Chief himself.

The Big Chief says he has one more string to his bow and he is going to pull it next week. If it doesn't click he is going back to the forest and eat worms. If it does he is going to make whoopee that will make Custer's last stand look like a Sunday School picnic. If it does there will be corn and venison for everybody, a new string of beads for every squaw and a bottle of fire water for the winning braves.

A Cultural Center

Farnsworth Art Museum Is Realizing Dream Of Its Founder

Exhibition of the work of Maine painters and sculptors will be emphasized for the next six to eight months in the Farnsworth Museum schedule, it was announced today.

James Brown, director of the museum said, "We feel that when Miss Lucy Farnsworth of this city, who died in 1935, as a cultural center that she intended it to be not only a repository for works of art but also a center of exhibition and inspiration for artists living in Maine. By exhibiting the work of Maine artists at the museum during the Spring and Summer months visitors as well as year round residents will become acquainted with the creative resources of this State."

In addition to the regularly changing pictures in the museum's Square Gallery, several exhibitions of Maine artists are planned.

This Summer, at the same time as the Maine Craft Show, Charles Chase of Wiscasset, will exhibit birds of Maine carved in Native woods. Catching the peculiar poses and characteristics of each bird the artist has at the same time adopted his representations to the medium of wood. His feeling for this medium and knowledge of the subject have combined to create a truly native artistic creation.

William Zorach of Robinhood, Me., will exhibit water colors for six weeks in June and July together with several examples of his renowned sculpture. Internationally known for his work in both mediums the Farnsworth Museum regards the exhibition of this work as one of the high spots of its museum program.

Determined that its position as a center for creative activity in Maine be as broad as possible the museum is sponsoring many exhibitions outside of the field of painting and sculpture.

An exhibition of the newly formed Index of Maine Design will open to the public on March 8 and will continue through April 1. This exhibition will demonstrate the wealth of design source material available in the State and which has been and can be used by designers of fundamentally native character.

The Knox County Camera Club opens a joint exhibition of work by its own members and invited fellow groups on March 20.

Thus through its sponsorship of creative activity in Maine through exhibitions lectures and classes is the museum taking the place intended for it by its founder as a cultural and creative center.

Better Hog Profits

The Foundation For Animal Health Tells How They May Be Increased

Farmers can increase their hog profits if they will adopt the practice of earmarking Spring pit litters, the American Foundation for Animal Health reports. This practice the announcement explained, involves placing an earmark on each sow and an identical ear mark on each of her pigs. Rewards of this practice were cited as follows:

"(1) Sows acting as carriers of swine dysentery and other forms of swine enteritis may be singled out more readily and then removed from the breeding herd.

"Veterinarians often note that an outbreak of enteritis first affects all the pigs in one litter, then spreads to other litters. In many such cases, the first litter appears to have acquired the disease from its parent sow.

"(2) Breeding stock for future pig crops can be selected more efficiently. Litters of healthy and thrifty pigs are permanently identified with their mothers by earmarking. Sows producing such litters may very well be selected again as breeders. Also, their female offspring may be the most promising choices as breeding gilts."

Earmarking, of course, is just one link in the chain of loss prevention measures, the American Foundation observed. Sanitation, good housing, balanced rations, prompt diagnosis of suspected disease outbreaks, and vaccination for hog cholera, were cited as other features of a well rounded swine disease control program.

Hints To Veterans

In Regard To VA Pay For Their Care In Private Hospitals

M. L. Stoddard, manager of the VA in Maine, today outlined the requirements that veterans must meet in order to have the VA pay for their care in private hospitals.

Stoddard stressed that each one of the following requirements must be met before the VA can pay a private hospital for its care of a male veteran:

1. The condition needing treatment must be service connected or one that would cause interruption of P. L. 16 training.

2. The condition must be severe enough to be called a genuine medical emergency.

3. A VA hospital must be unavailable.

4. Request for authorization must be made to the VA prior to or at least within 72 hours of admission.

Female veterans, Stoddard said, are hospitalized in private hospitals in emergencies for any condition except confinement. The VA Hospital at Togus is not set up to handle female patients. Whenever possible, female veterans will be hospitalized in VA hospitals out-of-State in preference to private hospitals in Maine.

In his outline, Stoddard stated that the VA may not assume responsibility for the cost of treatment of male veterans for conditions not service connected, if that treatment is performed in a private hospital. That rule, he stated, is applicable no matter how seriously ill the veteran is.

Male veterans with non-service-connected conditions, he said, who must be taken quickly to a private hospital and who desire to transfer to the VA hospital when transfer is medically feasible, may apply for such transfer at any time and if eligible, will be admitted as soon as a bed is available.

Stoddard stated that his repetition of the requirements for treatment in private hospitals was to clear up misunderstandings and does not change in any way the procedure for applying for hospital treatment in a VA hospital. Generally, he stated, in emergencies it is preferable to have the physician on the particular case place a call to the VA Hospital at Togus. In that way Togus medical authorities may better determine the nature of the emergency.

Robert P. Murphy, a representative of the VA, is stationed every Wednesday in the Rockland office of the State of Maine Division of Veterans Affairs, Room 211, Farnsworth Memorial Building, 265 Main street, for the purpose of rendering assistance to veterans and their dependents on all benefits administered by the Veterans Administration.

They are shown here proudly wearing jackets from the Richardson & Libby Store in Thomaston. One of these girls will be crowned as "Queen of the Green" at the St. Patrick's Dance March 17 at Watts Hall in Thomaston by J. Wallace Lovell, warden of the Maine State Prison. The Queen's prizes, obtained from gifts from interested merchants and friends, include a complete ensemble from Haskell and Corbett of Camden and appropriate smaller gifts for the attendants. The dance is being sponsored by the Williams-Brazier Post, American Legion, to benefit their recreational program for school children.

balloting for town officers, but this was debated; a written vote was then taken with the result that 63 denoted "Yes" and 61 "No." The road commissioner and tax collector will henceforth also come under this category, as well as the other municipal officers.

The residue of the warrant included the levying of these sums, without ado: Public health nursing, $150; Library, $300; E. A. Starrett Camp, $50; town dump, $250; white pine bluster, $400.

A discount of two percent on real estate taxes will be allowed if paid before July 1.

No additional street lights were approved.

Total appropriations were $52,880, slightly lower than those of last year.

LIBERTY

Liberty town meeting was held March 7, with Clayborn H. Wellington, moderator. Selectmen, assessors and overseers of the poor, Merle Overlock, W. R. Cole and C. H. Wellington; school committee for three year period, Ethelyn Knowlton, tax collector, A. M. Boynton; treasurer, R. S. Worthington, salary $175; clerk, Katherine Worthington, collector of excise tax, C. C. Banks; constable, A. Roykyn.

Interested members and friends of the P.T.A. furnished an abundance of food which was on sale all day by a P.T.A. committee. An auction was held after meeting adjourned and the remaining food sold. Proceeds go to the cafeteria fund which is being sponsored by the P.T.A.

Noted at the all-day meeting were the retiring first selectman G. Wayland Jones, local manager of Burnham & Mogill, who has served on the board of selectmen for the past 16 years, the last four as first. He said there have been a lot of changes both in the town and the work involved during that time. Mr. and Mrs. William J. Thompson, the oldest attendants, are seldom seen this early in the Spring. It has been their plan for years to go to Florida after the first snowmelt and their hope to get home in time to enjoy the last one. This year they have spent the Winter in Augusta, returning home a month ago.

CAMDEN

By popular request, the Minstrel Show, presented by the High School a short time ago, is to be repeated March 18, at the Opera House. While this is called a "repeat" performance, it will be an entirely new show—new songs, new acts, new jokes, but with the same cast and the same guest "stars"—Tige Richardson, Bob Laite, Bill Monroe and Milford Payson. The "Dixiecat" will be Dick Gould, Mary Kennedy and Caddy Joyce in new solos. End men in the Minstrels will be Joyce, Arau, Sparta, Putnam, Hanson, and the king pin, Carl ("Mr. Bones") Buck, who will have a monologue "qual to his previous one."

Mrs. Almeda MacDonald and Mrs. Frank Drinkwater were in Boston over the week-end and attended the Flower Show.

Lieut.-Commander Lewis Baker spent the week-end with his family at their home on Pearl street.

David Montgomery from Harvard College and Philip Montgomery from Hebron Academy spent the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hugh Montgomery.

A "Sadie Hawkins" dance was conducted by High School girls at the Y.M.C.A. last Friday night.

The "Sadie Hawkins" to the uninitiated, is a sort of leap-year affair.

The Friends-in-Council will meet at the home of Mrs. Rita Hopkins, Bay View street, this afternoon.

The Good Cheer Class of the Congregational Church will meet at the Parish House on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. Mrs. F. J. Lounghway and Mrs. Dorothy Marshall will be hostesses.

The Mission Circle of the Chestnut Street Baptist Church will entertain the Baptist Ladies' Circle at their "Love-Gift Offering" Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Following a short musical program, Mrs. H. W. Plag of Thomaston will speak on "China." Refreshments will be served. The business meeting of the Baptist Ladies' Circle will be held at 2 p. m.

George Ayers is among those announced as on the Dean's list at the University of Maine for the last semester.

Friday night, is the date for the second performance of the C. H. S. Minstrels. Those who attended the first performance will want to see this one, also, as there will be entirely new material, but with the same cast. "Yorki," "Tige" Richardson, Bob Laite, Bill Monroe, and Milford Payson will appear again as guest stars. Tickets may be checked, starting March 16, from 1 to 5 p. m. and 7 to 8.30 p. m.

"Hospital Gape Day," which will take place Friday, means that members of the Camden Hospital Auxiliary are entertaining paying guests at their homes for bridge or any other game. The Ways and Means Committee of the Auxiliary will furnish hostesses with prizes for highest and lowest scores. Committee in charge, Mrs. Dorothy Packard and Mrs. Marjorie Touting.

Miss Harriet Gill was winner of first prize at the Megunticook Grange whist party Saturday night; Mrs. Leroy Hurd of Lincolnville won second; and Fred Gould received the consolation. Another party next Saturday.

The Ladies of the G.A.R. will hold their regular fortnightly meeting at the Megunticook Grange Hall Friday night. A picnic supper will be served at 6.

The Townsend Club will meet the first and third Thursday in each month at 78 Bay View street until further notice.

Edwin O. Wright, aged 78, died in a Bangor hospital on March 9. He was born in Hope, son of John and Margaret (Worcester) Wright. Surviving him are his wife, Etta I. Wright and a daughter, Flora E. Wright of Camden, a brother, Irving Wright and a sister, Mrs. Flora

Barrett, both of Hope. Mr. Wright was a member of the Chestnut Street Baptist Church. Funeral services were held Friday, from the Gilbert C. Laite Funeral Home, with Rev. Melvin H. Doir officiating.

Milford L. Keene

Milford L. Keene, aged 76, died at his home on the Simonton Corner road, March 10, after a long illness. He was born at Harrison, June 27, 1872, son of John and Mary Greene Keene. He leaves a widow, Nellie D. Keene, a son, Frederick A. Keene of Camden, a daughter, Mrs. Alice K. Doie of Portland, two brothers, Harry J. Keene, Everett, Mass., and Alfred Keene, Bridgton, and a grandson, Thomas Keene, Camden. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon from Our Lady of Good Hope Church, with Rev. Charles S. Bennett officiating. Entombment was in Mountain View Cemetery and burial will take place at Oak Hill Cemetery in the Spring.

Sports Plenty

Activities for the Y.M.C.A.'s "Sports Night" began Tuesday. The first event was a basketball game between teams selected from the Cadet Girls. The ages of the girls ranged from 7 to 11 and they played some real basketball, for beginners. Sandra Sprankle's team, the "Reds," defeated Barbara Wood's team, the "Blacks," by a score of 19 to 10. Edith Conley scored eight points for the Reds, Sprankle six, and Thelma Small five points. Other members of this team were Mary Ames, Ethel Mayhew, Pat Crabtree, Ruth Lunt and Ruth Raynes. Dorothea lead scoring for the Blacks with six points, Joyce Ughart, two and Janet Watts, 2. The team of the Blacks also included Barbara Wood, Ellen Cooper, Barbara Lunt, Frances Cain, and Mary Raynes.

The Cadet Boys lost a hard fought battle with the Seventh Grade boys, in the next basketball game, the score being 22 to 13. Members of the Seventh Grade team and the points they scored are: Sylvester 10, Arau 4, Knight 8, Plaisted 0, and M. Whitehouse 0. For the "Y" Cadets, Leonard 2, Donald 0, Webber 6, Crockett 0, Paul 3, Christie 2, also D. Webber, Richard C. Whitehouse and Talbot.

The Junior Boys won over the Belfast Juniors with little trouble. For the "R" team, Shaw 2, Hansen 0, Rossiter 2, Manning 0, Green 13, Griffin 2, Murch 6, Richards 1, Lounghway 0; while Belfast counted up, Clark 3, Smith 3, Meservey 0, Hammonds 0, J. When a birthday is a week away one scarcely expects a surprise party to be given in honor of the occasion, but that is what happened at the home of Mrs. Eliza Plummer, Thursday night, when 16 friends met and showered Mrs. Velma Marsh and Mrs. Lillian Rackliff with gifts, birthday cakes and best wishes. The dining room was tastefully arranged by "The Girls," the table being spread with a lace banquet cloth, lighted by yellow candles, and just laden with all the good things to eat. Guests were Everett Payson, Lester Plummer, Mrs. Martha Sleeper, Mrs. Ada Payson, Mrs. Myra Watts, Mrs. Ruth Sewall, Mrs. Grace Jameson, Mrs. Marguerite Harris, Mrs. Ruby Makenin, Mrs. Adelaide Kaler, Mrs. Mildred Williams, Mrs. Myrtle Makenin, Mrs. Velma Marsh, Mrs. Lillian Rackliff, Mrs. Eliza Plummer, and Mrs. Gladys Hurley of Portland, State President of W.S.R. Corps of Maine. The surprise of the evening was the singing of "Happy Birthday" when all joined in, even Velma and Lillian, each thinking the celebration was for the other. The presentation of gifts by Martha was a real piece of genius calling forth exclamations, as handsome tatting handkerchiefs were unwrapped by the honor guests.

A surprise birthday party was given to Mrs. Rosie Cuthbertson of Pleasant Gardens, by Mrs. Albert Cuthbertson and Miss Gladys Cuthbertson. The birthday cakes were made by Mrs. Albert Cuthbertson. Refreshments were served by her daughter Gladys. Mrs. Cuthbertson received nice gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Karl spent the week-end in Bangor as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford S. Libby. Sunday night, the Libbys also had as dinner guests Dr. and Mrs. Charles Metcalf of Bangor. Sunday the Karls attended the wedding of Miss Esther Louise Colby and Frederick Evans Hillman of Bangor in the Congregational Church.

Smart Rockland Youngsters Cop Prizes

Jan Adelman
6th Grade, Grace Street School

Katherine Mailard
4th Grade, Grace Street School

Robert Kent
5th Grade, Purchase Street School

Rockland grade school students have been awarded three of the most possible prizes in a national art contest conducted by the American Crayon Company. Work of the trio was entered in the America The Beautiful Contest by school art instructor Mrs. Marion Podkova. Receiving first prizes for their respective grades in the State of Maine was Jan Adelman, Sixth Grade; Katherine Mailard, Fourth Grade; both of Grace Street School, and Robert Kent, Fourth Grade at Purchase Street School.

Each will receive bronze plaques and now become eligible for consideration in the national contest, which carries a prize of $500 savings bond in each grade.

Two years ago Dolores Malmstrom, a Tyler School student won first prize in the State in her class division.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Dorman, Warren street, had as dinner guests Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. William Dorman, Mrs. Grace E. Fish, Mr. and Mrs. Kendrick Dorman and daughters, Janice and Peggy. Misses Margaret and Ruth Dorman and Gerald Murphy. In the late afternoon a handsome birthday cake and ice cream were served in honor of William Dorman's birthday, which was on Saturday.

SOUTH THOMASTON

Parent-Teacher Association meets Friday at 3 o'clock in the Georges River School. Following a short business meeting, there will be a discussion of the articles pertaining to the schools, which will be voted on at the Town Meeting Monday. Mrs. Edward Mayo of the State Extension Service will be the principal speaker. Her subject will be of vital interest to all parents and members. The plaque, won by the Village School, at the February meeting, will be presented to the school having the highest percentage of parents in attendance at this meeting.

Ernest F. Rackliff, seaman apprentice, USN, son of Mrs. Ada Rackliff of South Thomaston, recently reported for duty with the precommissioning detail of the light cruiser USS Roanoke and for further duty aboard the ship when commissioned at the Philadelphia Naval Shipyard, March 31. Rackliff, who entered the Navy Nov. 4, 1948, received his recent training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

Advances estimates by the U. S. Bureau of Mines indicate that 100,000,000 gross tons of iron ore will have been mined during 1948. This a peace time record.

A second film verification for preview purposes on March 24 when the Rockland Film Council meets at the Farnsworth Art Museum for its monthly session, "Going Places," has been received. This film is one of several produced at Harding College, Arkansas, but the first one to be released outside the theatre circuits.

"Audio-Visual Guide," February 1949 issue, has been received in sample copy form and is now on file at the Public Library for the inspection of anyone interested. This is the "Demonstration Center issue" and shows pictures and tells the story of "pilot schools" through the nation where audio-visual programs have been "pioneered" in the study of the value received from well co-ordinated programs.

The first mishap, at least of a painful nature, occurred last Friday afternoon while Donald Teel was re-winding a film which came to us not ready for projection. Not having inspected the film in advance, and having an audience waiting to see this film, he placed the reel on the machine and successfully re-wound the film, but due to the way reels are made so they cannot be placed on the machine incorrectly, it was not possible to close the safety catch, and the reel flew off once the tension was released, and cut Donald's hand badly.

Plucky guy that he is, Donald is running a projector three times this coming week for the Lions Clubs of the area. The accident resulted from negligence on the part of the last user, and also on the part of the reputable distributor which usually checks all films before issuing them for use again. Donald, with the help of another High School student, had already filmed "Wings Over Ireland," an exquisite kodachrome film, which showed the Club all over Ireland, illustrating its color, its variety, its historical spots, and its people and language.

"Revolution in the South" is a film illustrating "Progress on the March." It is a 16 mm. sound film, 24 minutes long. "There was the old South—a land of manly men whose wall was born a tradition of hospitality—a land of plantations that yielded great fortunes and its fields of cotton and tobacco—a land of easy living and a contentment built upon an agricultural economy that seemingly could not fail.

But then a shadow passed over the land the land lay exhausted. It became harder and harder to wrest a living from the soil—fortunes vanished—prudent mansions were silent—existence itself became a struggle. And then, out of this despair came industry. Industry with its giant throbbing machines—its ability to awaken a sleepy

Program And Social Entertainment Given By the Junior Baptist Church School

The Junior Department of the First Baptist Church School had a program and social time in the vestry Friday night. Parents of the boys and girls were special guests. The following program was presented under the direction of the superintendent, Mrs. Ada McConnell.

Hairdressers Met

And Witnessed Some Interesting Demonstrations By Guests

One of the most interesting meetings of the Knox-Waldo Hairdressers' Association was held at Hotel Rockland Thursday night.

After the banquet and short business meeting the program was placed in the hands of Mr. Sedgley of N. Sedgley & Sons of Lexington. He gave an excellent program which included demonstration of two permanents, one, the new Nestle Footwave machine everyone is talking about, and the other a Rilling Kooler-Wave. Our guest, Mr. Marceau styled and cut the permanents and gave Mrs. Clotis of Camden a beautiful cut.

Mr. Sedgley presented the Unit with a handsome chrome and leather drying chair. Tickets were sold and Clara Nason of the Peter Pan Beauty Salon was lucky lady. The money was put into our Sunshine Fund in case of illness.

Tickets were drawn for permanent wave supplies and hair cream, also gifts from Mr. Sedgley.

A delightful evening was enjoyed, everyone appreciating the efforts of the guests.

This monthly meeting was planned by Al Plourde, treasurer, and very nicely arranged.

Helen Knight, President.

"A Dutch Detective"

As Presented By Cast Of Junior High School Made a Hit

Friday night the Junior High School gave a creditable performance of "A Dutch Detective." This play gave promise of being just the beginning of future successful dramas by Junior High School. The whimsical frothy plot of the play was swept along by the young Thespians in great style, kept the audience amused, attentive and sent them home happy, and content. The youthful cast put the maximum of effort and exuberance into its acting as they capered off the stage into the audience. Their active shenanigans were vastly enjoyed.

The gist of the plot consisted of the Dutch detective and a policeman chasing two lunatics who had escaped from the asylum; also the difficulties which three couples enshined prior to their wedding. A fourth newlywed couple were continually fleeing from her rate father who threatened to kill the young groom. In the end all were forgiven, happily married and boarding the train for Niagara Falls, including the two still uncaptured lunatics.

Limerock Pomona

Limerock Valley Pomona met in St. George Saturday. In spite of a very disagreeable day the meeting was largely attended, with visitors from the northern part of the county present. Seven Granges and four Pomonas were represented by the nearly 100 present.

The afternoon program was under the direction of Kenneth Cassano, Pomona lecturer. Following was the program:

Opening song, "Lead Kindly Light," address of welcome, master of host Grange, Eugene Rackliff; response, Orett Robinson; singing, Leola Robinson and Mildred Mills; old songs, by a quartet of singers in charge of Mildred Mills.

A talk by Eugene Rackliff on "Lobsterman's Blues" was amusing in its instructive. Flower and Vegetable plants, by roll call of members, in charge of Adora Hill. The high light of the program was a discourse by A. Alan Grossman on "Experiences of a Country Lawyer." Mr. Grossman answered all questions asked by members concerning law problems. The closing thought was by Marston Beverage.

Supper was served by the ladies of St. George Grange after which Mrs. Margaret Elwell, lecturer of St. George Grange, presented a program of readings, music and stories. Music was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hatch, Mrs. Mildred Mills, Leola Robinson, Kenneth Cassano, Ruth Littlefield and others. Members of Owl's Head Grange announced that their Pomona meeting April 9, will be held at Owl's Head Town Hall and not in South Thomaston as was previously stated.

ROCKLAND AREA "LEVELS OFF"

Only 43 Unfilled Job Openings On File At End Of February

There were some indications during the past month that the steadily growing unemployment of the past few months was beginning to level off in the Rockland area, according to an activities report made today by John D. Coughlin, manager of the Rockland Office of the Maine Unemployment Compensation Commission.

New applications for work showed a substantial decrease from 273 in January to only 104 in February and although this was partly accounted for because some applicants for unemployment insurance had previously registered, there was so a slight decrease in the active applications on file.

Another indication that conditions in the labor market might be starting a change for the better was the fact that job openings re-accomplishments and activities at their High School.

Booming Cauldron

The Subscription Drive Has Started For Rockland High School's Year Book

This week inaugurates a subscription drive for Rockland High's yearbook, "The Cauldron" for 1949. Leona McGraw, chairman of the circulation staff, is in charge. Subscriptions must be taken now to find out how many copies of the book to print.

This morning a skit based on the book's theme (Shakespeare's Macbeth) was performed before the student body. Dave Cassens and Dave Ulmer wrote the script and directed the production. Those taking part were: Lois Tootill, Joanne Edwards, Elvira Johnson, Richard Pease, Nina Johnson, Jack Northgrave, David Ulmer, Conrad Brown, Jean Weir, David Cassens, Louise Ulmer, Dorothy Curtis, Elizabeth Bled, Leona McGraw, and Ruth Clark.

As has been the custom at Rockland High, each person signing up for a copy of The Cauldron will be asked to make an advance payment. These advance payments permit the business staff, headed by Florence Egan, to plan the budget and pay some of the bills already incurred.

All advance subscribers to The Cauldron for 1949 may choose one of two bindings. Either the spiral-bound and paper covered or the cloth-bound. Both bindings are available to all. The paper covered, spiral-bound edition is designed for the majority of students—those who want utility and reasonable sturdiness at an inexpensive price. The cloth binding, on the other hand, is offered to those who want a greater durability and are willing to pay for it. An advance payment of 50 cents is required with each order for a copy with paper covers and one of $1 with each order for a cloth-bound copy.

The exact prices for which these two editions will be sold in June cannot be determined at this time, for the prices depend on two unknown factors: The number of subscribers signing up in advance, and the amount of space sold to advertisers. The larger these two quantities become, the smaller the final price per copy will be.

The Cauldron is not only a record of the four long-but-happy High School years of the class of '49, but it is also a record of the activities of the entire school for the current year. Consequently, every student at Rockland High School has an interest in the book. And to citizens of the Rockland area, The Cauldron for 1949 is intended to give information and entertainment as they read and see pictorially a record of one year's

Flower Show Is Open

Magnificent Display In Boston Is Lodestone Which Draws Many Visitors

Eager to escape from March into flowery June, thousands of patrons thronged into the New England Spring Flower Show yesterday at Mechanics Building, Boston. When Governor Paul A. Dever of Massachusetts opened the doors, The Show is now open all this week through Saturday night from 10 to 10. Five acres of the halls have been transformed through the creation of about 100 gardens and displays.

The highlight of the show for most people is the jungle in Grand Hall where hundreds of priceless orchid plants in full flower are paraded as they grow in the green wilds of the headwaters of the Amazon River. At certain times, of particular attraction is the thunderstorm which sends lightning zipping over the snow-capped peaks of the Andes and brings rain pouring down while thunder rattles the windows.

Many visitors also find the display of the Stone acacias, those golden-flowered trees from Australia, of compelling interest while hosts of fans stand entranced before the crimson, scarlet and white display of the Waikiki anemones, those lily-like giant trumpet-flowers from South Africa. Probably the most popular single flower, aside from the glamorous orchids, are the gigantic roses upstairs in Rose Hall. These huge blossoms on the six-foot stems, are arranged in great vases so that people can walk in among the roses and so enjoy them at close quarters. Pointing up the size of the roses is a display of the world's smallest rose—roses which, bushes, flowers and all fit inside a coffee cup.

Gardner's Protest

Cites Drastic Losses In Face Of Competition With Canada

The Maine Department of Agriculture's brief protesting the trade agreement with Canada on Certified Seed potatoes, which has been forwarded to the Maine delegation at Washington, cites drastic losses in the face of price competition from over the border.

Comparative shipments as of Feb. 23 of the current and the past three seasons show drastic reduction, from 3089 carloads in 1948 to 1307 cars in 1949.

The 1947 and 1948 shipments as of the same date were 2712 and 2073 respectively. The brief, signed by A. K. Gardner, Maine Commissioner of Agriculture, declares "careful analysis of all the factors involved indicates that the low price of Canadian seed is the only reason for the present situation. We are hiring American help, paying American wages, buying our goods in American markets, and asking no favors of anyone in the United States; but we just cannot compete with the present Canadian set-up, and if it is continued, there can be no other result than to jeopardize the entire potato industry of the State of Maine."

The Pine Tree State in 1948 produced 16.4 percent of the country's white potatoes. The present reciprocal trade agreement with Canada permits entry of 2,500,000 bushels of seed potatoes at 37¢ net duty per 100 pounds, and additional shipments at 75¢ per hundredweight.

The first voting machine was used in Rochester, N. Y., in 1893.

Thank you for the loan of this fine old document. It was of much interest. I am very sorry that you were unable to visit the show, however, we are having another one sometime in the latter part of November, next Fall, and maybe you'll be able to visit the show then. I am enclosing four paid tickets to the Fall show and I hope you will be able to use them. If you have anything else of historical interest I would like to hear about it. I also like old newspapers that might be interesting.

Milton M. Babcock. He also enclosed a clipping from the Boston Globe of March 1, with his picture, and an account of his interest in stamp collecting, and some advice to young stamp collectors. Evidently he is an authority on antiques and stamps, as well as young people.

ARTIST ASTRONOMER'S DEATH

Dr. Russell Porter Of Port Clyde Had Hand In Constructing 200-Inch Telescope

Dr. Russell W. Porter, beloved "artist of Palomar" and Arctic explorer, died at midnight Tuesday of heart attack at his home, 615 Mentor Ave., Pasadena.

The artist-astronomer's detailed sketches of the 200-inch telescope have guided the builders of the instrument since the inception of the project in 1928.

Before any construction detail was decided upon, Dr. Porter made a graphic drawing of the part so it could be visualized in relation to the rest of the telescope. His genius was in visualizing complicated machinery in three dimensions.

At the age of 77, he was observed a few days ago, in his California Institute of Technology office, completing drawings of a mammoth spectrograph to be used with the instrument.

With him at the time of his death were his wife, Mrs. Alice Marshall Porter, and Mr. and Mrs. David O. Woodbury, who have been visiting the Porters. Woodbury is the author of the book, "The Glass Giant of Palomar."

In 1928, when the telescope project was announced, Dr. Porter was brought to Pasadena from Vermont by the late Dr. George Ellery Hale. "What do you want me to do?" Porter asked Hale. "Just be here," was Dr. Hale's reply.

Some weeks ago, Dr. Porter expressed satisfaction that he had lived to see the stars through the 200-inch telescope. "I've seen enough," he said, "to know the telescope is going to be even better than we had thought."

Born in Springfield, Vt., Dr. Porter studied architecture at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. In the role of an artist-meteorologist, he accompanied Admiral Peary to the Arctic.

Adventure followed adventure. On one of several Arctic expeditions, the ship was crushed by ice. Porter disappeared after leaving with a small party to walk south for help. Two years later, a searching expedition discovered Porter and his comrades on frozen Franz Josef Land where they had been marooned.

Helped in War Work Astronomy attracted Porter at an early age. He was the builder of small telescopes and sometimes was referred to as "the patron saint of amateur astronomers" in this country.

During the war, Dr. Porter, like other Mt. Wilson-Palomar optical experts, helped the Navy in secret work. Also, when the U. S. Army urgently needed a large number of special prisms, it was he who broke the bottleneck by obtaining the co-operation of amateur polishers.

His hobby was the making of optical sundials to ornament his friends' lawns. Despite his deafness, he was reputed to be as cheerful and kindly a man as could be found on the Caltech campus.

A research associate at Caltech, Dr. Porter had just heard that he was to have been awarded a second doctorate degree. It was to have been conferred upon him next June by Middlebury College in his native Vermont.

Besides his widow, he leaves a daughter, Caroline Porter, who resides in Maine. Funeral services will be private.

"PLAY IT SAFE," SAYS GOSS

Children Killed By Autos Were Doing One Of Three Dangerous Things

"Play it safe" That is the advice of Secretary of State Harold I. Goss to all the children of this State.

"We don't want to spoil anybody's fun," he said. "In fact we want to see our youngsters have all the fun there is. But we want them to be safe, too."

Three-fourths of the boys and girls five to 14 years of age who were killed or injured in traffic in 1948 were doing one of three dangerous things at the time, according to the National Safety Council. They were either crossing the street between intersections, coming from behind parked cars or playing or sliding in the roadway.

So far this year 5 of the 16 persons killed in traffic accidents were under 8 years of age and 4 of these lost their lives while sliding.

"If one of your little friends has been killed or crippled so that he can never play games again—well, I guess I don't have to remind you to be careful," Mr. Goss said. "But all of you kids should play it safe—so you can keep on playing."

"So, please play on the playgrounds or in yards well away from traffic. And never play near the streets. Stay away from alleys, driveways and parked cars. You children are mighty quick, you know, and a driver just can't see you beside or behind his car or truck. So keep well away from cars, driveways and alleys. Play it safe."

A SAFETY FEATURE What Engineering Studies Have Revealed To the Chevrolet People

Engineering studies of the 1949 Chevrolet ventilation system show that with windows closed and air duct valves open, car interior air is changed approximately two and one-half times each minute at 30 miles an hour. At 60 miles an hour, continues the report, the frequency of air changes is doubled.

According to the company, the fact will prove a worthwhile safety feature in certain types of damp Spring weather when windshields and windows have a tendency to fog. Body glass will stay clear without the necessity of providing drafts from open ventilators.

The new Chevrolet ventilation system includes screened openings behind the radiator grille leading through tubes to outlets under the dash. The volume of air issuing into the passenger compartment is controlled by knobs beneath the instrument panel. The system is standard equipment on all Chevrolet passenger cars.

Its Diamond Jubilee

Principles Of Osteopathy Revealed To The World, June 22, 1874

"The science of osteopathy celebrates its Diamond Jubilee this year," Dr. J. R. Forbes, director of the Division of Public and Professional Welfare of the American Osteopathic Association, said that the actual date the principles of osteopathy were revealed to the world by Dr. Andrew Taylor Still, founder, was June 22, 1874, "but the profession is observing this anniversary throughout 1949."

"Since that date when Dr. Still discovered that the human body has its own healing sources within itself, this strictly American school of healing science has progressed rapidly. Today there are six osteopathic colleges in this country which require two to three years pre-professional training and four and one-half years of osteopathic scientific study, more than 350 osteopathic hospitals, and several hundred clinics."
